Declares Attitude of Secretary on Panama Canal Matter Is Correct.

GREAT STRUGGLE COMING

Storm in Republican Ranks Growing in Volume-Action of Manufacturers.

(From Our Regular Correspondent.) WASHINGTON, D. C., May 17.—The declaration made by Secretary Taft Monthat the Isthmian Canal Commission would purchase ships and other supplies in foreign markets because they could be procured more cheaply abroad, has caused a storm in the Republican party, the like of which has not been witnessed before in the history of the G. O. P It is still growing and there is no indication of its blowing over until the Congress has taken some action. And even then the declaration of the Secretary must stand as a constant argument ir the hands of Democrats, or whatever the hands of Democrats, or whatever party stands for the reduction of tariff tax.

The President said to-day that Seeretary Taft's position was entirely correct. Nobody in Washington doubts that the President really caused the announcement to be made by his Secretary of War, under whose direct control is the commission, which has charge of the work of constructing the canal. The President has found it harder to bring a majority of the leaders of the party to his way of thinking, concerning the tariff than to induce a majority to side with most as soon as the returns were in after the election last fall and he has been hammering on the party managers ever since, trying to induce them to agree to reduction of dues in the interest of

He has failed to make an apparent Im-pression. From the Northwest and the far West, there has come a demand for reduction of tariff and the Republicans reduction of tariff and the Republicans of those sections have not hesitated to endorse the President's views. But the protection Republicans of the East and Central West have stood pat. It is an open secret that the President has felt considerable chagrin at his inability to move the leadership of the Republican party in the East to his way of thinking. The declaration of the Secretary of War is unquestionably an attempt of the executive to force the hand of Congress.

President Roosevelt doesn't care a rap for the Republican party. His declaration at the Iroquois Club in Chicago the other night that in matters affecting the government in Washington officials should overlook party questions and heed solely the interests of the people at large, was a clearoutline of his policy. It is not asserte dhy Democrats that there has never been a time when the President did not follow this course. But since his election he has given many signs that he pays scant attention to the aims of party when it comes to administering the affairs of his office.

The fact that President Roosevelt is theoretically a free trader should not be forgotten for a moment. A strong and united minority party in Congress could make the lot of the Republicans this coming season about as hard as that of any mujority in the history of the country. Neither adjective is hardly accurate when applied to the present congressional minority. The outspoken declaration of the Secretary of War, that the prices which the government would have to ray for my tested for the President Roosevelt doesn't care a rap declaration of the Secretary of War, that the prices which the government would have to pay for material for the construction of the canal is so great, under our protective system, that the purchases will have to be made abroad, and the hearty indorsement which the President has occorded this determination, form a confession of the inequalities and the injustices of the protective tariff policy that is not only unique, but astounding. There can be but one result of this contest which the President has made certain. There will be long and thorough consideration of the tariff question at the conling session of long and thorough consideration of the tariff question at the coming session of Congress. It may be that the President will not be able to win out, even with the aid of the Dimocrate, but the country, which is already asking why the government should be allowed to have the advantages of cheaper goods from abroad, while the consumer has to pay whatever price is asked by the protected home manufacturer, will hardly be satisfied with less than an answer, which is action. The people are pretty apt to is action. The people are pretty apt to ATLANTA, May 17.—The question of the use of American goods by the Panama Canal Commission new widely agitated in connection with the recently announced decision of the commission to purchase in the markets of the world come prominently before the National Association of Manufacturers here today. After an exceedingly lively debate the association rejected that portion of the report of its Committee on Resolutions which called upon the Isthmian Board to use American made goods in the construction of the canal. The other resolutions were adopted without discussion but this one aroused the most spirited debate the convention has had thus far.

WASHINGTON, May 17.—Developments in the Loomis-Bowen inquiry to-day were few, but interesting. As stated officially to the press, they were about as follows Minister Bowen called upon Secretary Minister Bowen called upon Secretary Tatt and told him that upon looking over the papers submitted to him by the Secretary, as embodying the State Department's correspondence on the subject of the rumors current in Caracas relative to Mr. Loomis, he had found that at least two papers were lacking, of which he was cognizant. The first of these was a letter from President Castro to Mr. Loomis, then minister to Venezuela, introducing a negotiator in behalf of that country, concerning an arrangement with an American syndicate. The second was an assignment of a claim against Venezuela by Mr. Jaurett to Mr. Loomis, Secretary Taft sent immediately to the State Department and a thorough search failed to discover either of these papers.

Secretary Taft said Mr. Loomis, upon learning through Minister Bowen that he had copies of the missing papers, agreed to waive all technicalities and receive Mr. Bowen's copies as sufficient for the purposes of the investigation. So Mr. Bowen submitted these copies to Secretary Taft, who, in turn, supplied copies of them to Mr. Loomis for consideration and comment.

(Dy Associated Press.) ATLANTA, GA., May 17.—The National Manufacturer's Association to-day passed resolutions upholding the stand taken by President Parry against the exercise by the national government of rate mak-by the national government of rate making power for the railroads.

An interesting fight on the railroad rate question has been 'waged behind closed doors and in the hotel corridors ever since the convention began and was not settled until this afternoon. Both the executive and resolutions committees held lengthy meetings for the consideration of the question, in which leading members of the organization supported the position of President Parry against the exercise by the government of the rate-making power, as taken by him in his annual address. E. B. Pike, of New Hampshire, chairman of the Standing Committee of the organization on interstate commerce, led the fight in behalf of the exercise of the rate-making power, presenting lengthy resoluon interstate commerce, led the fight in behalf of the exercise of the rate-making power, presenting lengthy resolutions to that effect. This afternoon, the Resolution Committee refused to endorse Mr. Pike's position and presented a resolution to the convention which was unanimously adopted with much applause, the advocates of the pending legislation before Congress not pressing their position in the ppen convention. The resolution follows:

Resolved, That we favor the active enforcement by the executive department of the general government of all existing laws to prevent the giving or acceptance of rebates or special favors (threugh whatever device) to or by favored shippers and we call upon the Interstate Commerce Commission to apply all the remedies at their disposal as provided by the original interstate commerce act and the Elkins act, amending the same.

Resolved, That if the existing laws for the detection and punishment of the giving or acceptance of such rebates are insufficient or defective in any respect, we favor the enactment of such further legislation as may be necessary adequately to deal with the evil and to secure this complete prevention.

Resolved, That in order to carry into evil and to secure this complete prevention.

Resolved, That in order to carry into effect the 'provisions of the foregoing resolutions. Congress be asked that provision be made for the necessary examination of the books of the railroads and corporations something after the manner of the national bank examinations, for the purpose of detecting and eliminating special favors and discrimination against the small and less favored shippers and also that provision for adequate punishment be provided for improper disclosure of confidential information so gained.

Speech by Spencer.

Increased attendance and increased interest marked the day's programme, which was opened by Mr. Foss, whose prominence as an advocate of reciprocity with foreign nations has given weight to his words. In a lengthy paper, he discussed the subject historically and economically. He was followed by President Spencer, of the Southern Railroad, who delivered an address touching upon the rate question and other important matters.

The resolutions adopted endorsed the "open shop" a sembodying the true spirit of American liberty, deprecated "the crimes and outrages on personal liberty daily occurring" during the Chicago teamsters' strike, commended the utterances of President Roosevelt, when he declared that the State is back of the city and the nation back of the State, and commended the position taken by Chicago citizens regarding the strike; called upon the Department of Commerce and Labor to make investigation into the laws of other countries which have preferential duties, and demands that Congress and the President act quickly to protect our markets from the rising tide of discrimination, and commended the work of the merchant marine commission, and approved the passage of a bill for the city trade.

The closing day of the convention will include the election of officers and the formal business of the association. It it said to-night that William McCarroll, of New York, vice-president of the association, will be selected as the next president, as the present occupant, D. M. Parry, is not a candidate for re-election, and is quoted as being a hearty supporter of the New Yorker.

The choice of the next meeting place also is to be made to-morrow, and at present San Francisco and New York are the only claimants for the honor. Secretary Metcalf, of the Department of Commerce and Labor is to address the members of the association to-morrow evening. Found!

"Why is there no magazine in English that publishes the great foreign stories we hear about so often? There is no doubt about the demand for such a periodical. The best English and American fiction is divided among so many magazines that there's not enough to go around—the magazine that publishes six really great stories in a year does not exist. But a magazine that draws on the whole of the world's literature could easily give its readers a dozen great stories each month, and still not exhaust the rich treasures that are hidden from the average English-speaking reader-stories filled with the life and brilliancy of France; with the psychological insight of Germany; with the realism of Russia; with the pathos and aspiration of the North; and with the romance and glamour of Italy and Spain.

Would not such a magazine appeal to you?

GREAT REFORMS GRANTED BY CZAR

Vexatious Restrictive Laws in Poland and Baltic Provinces Swept Away.

ENTIRE REVERSAL OF POLICY

Privileges for Which People Have Been Fighting for Years Now Restored.

(Ry Associated Press.) ST. PETERBULIG, May 11.—There is little room for skepticism as to the gen-ulmeness of the broad policy of Imperial reform after the remarkable steps sanc-tioned by Emperor Nicholas in the imperial rescript modifying the restrictive decrees in nine of the western governperial rescript modifying the restrictive decrees in nine of the western governments of Russia and giving the Poles greater freedom for acquiring farming lands and purchasing landed properties and industrial premises and giving permission to introduce the Polish and Lithunanian languages in the primary and secondary schools where the majority of the inhabitants are non-Russians. Almost at one sweep, the whole burden of the vexatious restrictive laws in Poland and the Baltie provinces have been removed and the privileges for which the natives have been fighting for years, are restored, the assembles of the Polish nobles are re-established and all the harsh administrative measures introduced at the time of the policy of reaction and russification are abelished unless later for purposes of state, after the recommendation of the council of state they receive imperial sanction. As a natural sequence of freedom of religion the oppressive prohibition of the purchase of land by Catholic peasants in abolished. In effect, the measures sanctioned amount to entire reversal of Russian policy in ancient Poland and the Baltie provinces.

ture. Society was out in force, among those present being a sprinking of fash-lonable people from Virginia, Philadelphia and elsewhere.

The opening card was a good one, and in some of the classes competition was decidedly close. The show was virually iraugurated by Miss Katherine II. Elains, daughter of Senator Stephen B. Elkins, of West Virginia. Her horse, Pendennis, was the first to perform in the class for green hunters, the initial display on the programme.

of West Virginia. Her horse, Pendennis, was the first to perform in the class for green hunters, the initial display on the programme.

Miss Elkins rode over the jumps, and was much applauded. Besides M. as Elkins, there was another lady rider in her class, Mrs. Peter R. Lahoulsse, of Warrenton, Va., who rode The Lamb. Imported Chatterbox, owned by Charles E. Mather, of Philadelphia, landed the blue, and Pendennis, the red ribbon. Playmate, owned by Robert Brothers, of Virginia, won third.

The surprise of the day came with the awards in the class of roadsters, in which William B. Oliver, of Baltimore, landed first. The winners among the horses suitable to become hunters was Hipplas, owned by Mr. Peter R. Laboulsse, of Virgin a, a brown gelding, four years old. David Duniop, of reteraburg. Va., who has a large string of norses here, captured first honors in the four-in-hands, and won two second prizes. The Old Dominion, it will thus be seen, fared very well.

The show opened at 2 o'clock P. M., with Mr. Jumes K. Maddox, of Virginia, as one of the Judges, and the judging continued until 5 o'clock.

There was music, and notwithstanding entencoloness, many visitors supped on the veranda of the club house.

Among the out-of-town guests were noted: Mrs. E. A. Saunders, Richmond, Va.; Mrs. Harry Worthington, Saunton, Va.; Mr. Mercereaux, Staunton, Va.; Mr. Mercereaux, Staunton, Va. Peter R. Laboulsse, Warrenton, Va.
